“ My father, Russell Metcalf, told me a story about my Uncle Frank and Aunt Dimple a few years before he passed away that gave me even more admiration for my aunt and uncle. Evidently my mother and father went through a tough time financially around Christmas one year. My dad had a slow summer at work and we had some unexpected bills and the budget for christmas gifts that year for me and my siblings was pretty slim. Uncle Frank and Aunt Dimple came to visit close to Christmas and had asked my father why there weren't any gifts under the tree yet and my father and mother reluctantly told them that they were hoping work would pick up so that they could afford to get us gifts. Upon hearing how difficult of a time they were having and that there was a possibility that they would not be able to afford to get us kids anything for Christmas, Frank and Dimple graciously gave my parents some money to buy Christmas gifts that year. They did not want any credit for the deed and were just happy that they could help out. I remember my father telling me the story after Uncle Frank had passed away and he was commenting on how kind, compassionate, and gracious that they both were. I remember Aunt Dimple as a very sweet soul and I enjoyed it when her and Uncle Frank would come to visit. RIP Aunt Dimple. Much love to her family.

“ When I think of my Aunt Dimple I remember from the time I was a little girl how beautiful I thought she was. As a little girl she always smiled and talked to me. It didn't matter how many people were in the room that made me feel so special. Dimple was a caring and generous individual who loved my Uncle Frank so much. When my Uncle Frank's sister Alta died Dimple came to the funeral to show respect for Alta and to do what she said ,“Uncle Frank would want her to do, pay the balance of his sister's funeral. That showed how much love she had for my Uncle Frank and for Aunt Alta. I will always think of My Aunt Dimple as loving and beautiful.
