“Mickey, Waunetta and I would take Betty once a week to lunch and any shopping errands. In 2018 we all moved out of the area. But her and I wrote letters. She couldn't hear on a phone. Everytime I got back 2 times a year I kept up with the lunch. In June before she passed she was alert and had a window visit with me. Then receiving my newspaper the end of July I was in shock that she passed. She said lockdown was like being in prison. Guess she died of isolation. God bless her. I sure missed her when I was there weeks later.
