“ I remember Bill from the time he was ten years old. He was a cute, funny, happy young man and a talented artist. He was a wonderful uncle to my children. " Randy"

“ Uncle Bill was one of the first heros in my life. I was always very proud of both of my uncles both having served in the Marines. I remember as a kid thinking that the airplanes flying overhead might be bringing my uncle Bill home from Vietnam even though they weren't the planes that would bring him home. I realized later in life that we were very fortunate that he did come back from the 2 tours he served in the Vietnam War.

We shared many good times together. He loved to travel and took me on some wonderful trips that I will never forget. He taught me a lot of things and we shared a lot of the same passions of the outdoors. He took me camping to his favorite places across the USA, the land that he loved so much. We celebrated our birthdays together me being born the day after his. He introduced music, art, worldliness and education to me. He knew how to make me laugh. He was strong, a protector but he could be gentle and sensitive too. I will cherish all the memories that I have spent with my Uncle Bill through out the years for the rest of my life. Uncle Bill will now join Uncle Al, Cousin Jim, Nonnie, Grandpa Jack and Booka all in Heaven. They all are missed dearly but I hope to join them all some day when the time comes.

“ Everyone who met Bill always loved him. He had that personable magnetic personality and was fun to be around. I was married to his brother Al & he always considered me his "sister". In my heart I know he was welcomed into heaven by many friends and relatives but particularly by his brother Al & nephew Jim both who loved him dearly. I loved him too and he will be missed. “ Aunt Darlene, Kitty, and Jenny,
I was so sad to hear the news of Uncle Bill's death. I always loved him. I remember him coming over for New Years Eve when I was little. He brought fudge and all sorts of treats. We had so much fun with him. I always thought he was so cool because he rode a motorcycle. I only had one uncle and he will be missed.
