“ I had the privilege of knowing Chris when he was small. He and my daughter would play together. What a cute little guy he was. I wasn't fortunate enough to get to spend time with him as an adult, but will always have the memories of him as a child, sweet and innocent with no cares or stresses in the world. Shelly, just remember this, Chris is in God's "corner" now! I am truly sharing your heartbreak. Many prayers to all who knew and loved Chris!

“ I love the way you called me mom, I loved how Cash knew which cabinet the treats were in, I loved how you always showed up at dinner time ... especially if it was breakfast casserole, and I loved how you found Shelby, brave enough to travel life with you. Forever in my heart, kiddo.

“ Chris, I will always remember the days when you came into Dugans paints and put a smile on our faces. You were always smiling and would come in with a positive attitude and planning your future with Shelby. You would work your butt off and do what you could to keep bringing in the money to support you and Shelby. I'm so sad you decided to leave us all way to soon, I wish you would have thought how this would effect your mom, dad and your brother and sister and your beautiful finance. I been in this situation with a guy I loved and this is the worst pain you can put your loved ones through. You decided on your own you should leave us all, that's not fair. I just wish you would see how empty everyone feels without you! RIP my friend, you will always have a place in my heart. ❤️Brandy

“ We watched him grow up from about the time he was 11. Always kind, thoughtful, and welcome to share what ever was on our grill. We will miss this young man that became a craftsman above others in his trade, and was always the first to help a neighbor. He will never be forgotten by our family.

“ Never so happy and proud to be part of Chris's life. He always kept me laughing. I loved being a part of raising him. I will miss his "Love you Momma"s. I will miss his laugh and times when he would get excited about something. I love you Chris forever.
