“ two years now.. I'm still going strong grandma. Getting better every day. I still cry every now and then because I just think of us. I've grown in the past two years.. More like you then anyone else honestly. didn't mean it to happen but hey what can I say. I've graduated by now and I know you watched me at graduation like you promised. see, you made it to my graduation nonna. Oh yeah, I've started college and I'm getting straight A's, I'm going to get my Ph.D.. I promise you that grandma. to be the first "Dr. Vierling" haha. God I miss you like crazy grandma. I love you and forever will. Please keep watching over me and Cheyenne and my mom and dad.. especially my mom right now. You should know what's going on since your up above with the big guy now. Oh yeah I forgot to tell you I'm on my road to self discovery. Challenging as it is I've hit ever goal so far on becoming a better woman. With knowledge to health and just to even my passions and joys. I'm doing so much better now. I love you nonna.

“ Debbie was a wonderful wife, mother, grandmother and mother in law. We miss her so much! I thanked her all the time for raising a great man and sharing him with me. Our lives have changed forever but we know she will always be in our hearts and memories.

“ Aunt Debbie was my best friend at a certain time in my life when I really needed her. She was my Matron of Honor when I married for the first time. I have always had her in my thoughts and prayers because I knew she had heart problems. Aunt Debbie, I know you're in a better place, but everyone will miss your kindness and love. Just know you will never be forgotten.

“ It sucks now. Everything I love was because of you. My love of reading school writing and supernatural things just the simple things that make me. Your gone now but to me your still here. You now live through me. I'm still gunna write I'm still gunna read I'm still gonna do every little thing I did before you left us just with a little bit more passion. I love you grandma. Wish I could have talked to you once more before you left. I would give anything in the world to have that moment. Please watch over us. Keep us safe. Because I'll need you more than ever right now grandma. I love you.
