“ Elmer was the best person I knew. He was a fisherman and came to the convenience store that I worked at to get minnows. He shared his catch and homemade fudge with us. When he lived in the area, I could go and visit with him regularly. I made greeting cards that were made personally for him, and he enjoyed them so very much. Today is a rough day for me. I know that no one lives forever, but it hurts so badly when you lose someone who is so special. Then I see a post on Facebook saying; "if you never had hurt or pain you would never have been able to know what true love or true blessings was... appreciate the good and learn from the bad....it'll make you stronger and wiser...." I will remember you always Elmer, my special friend. You were a Blessing to me. Thank You for coming into my life.
