“ Geraldine was like a grandmother to me. She lived across the street from my family when I was young and would "steal" me as my mom would say. She crocheted me an orange vest that I loved so much I wore it in one of my elementary school pictures. I loved running across the street to visit her. I'm sorry for your loss!

“ I will always cherish our Friday hair dresser and lunch dates. She never failed to brighten my day. She taught me a lot about how to slow down and enjoy the little things--like Sonic hot dogs, car rides through town and endless stories of her family and younger life. I will miss you dear friend but we will see each other again.

What I remember the most about Geraldine is her loving to watch her flowers bloom, especially her beautiful roses. She was a good neighbor and have missed having her across the street. Rest in Peace Neighbor.
