“ Wanda and I first met Glen and Dorothy soon after they were married, and we wondered how they would do with blending all those kids into one happy family. They had some like sugar and some cream of the crop and some a little icy and yet others a little vanilla also some plain milky like, oh my what could they possibly do?

Well as only Glen and Dorothy could do, they made the best homemade ice cream ever! What beautiful results and whoda thunk it. Would never have happened without Glen and his wife and their love for God.
