“ My dearest mother! How I miss you! I can't believe it has been 6 years since your passing. It seems so long ago. I think of you everyday, and I thank you for the wonderful life you have given me. Mom! You were, and always will be the best mother that anyone child could possibly have, or could have. Your love, tenderness, patience, teachings, and guidance has made me become a better person in all aspects of my life. Mother, You, and daddy are the best, you both have given so much to me, and I am so thankful you were my parents, and that you had so much love, patience, and guidance to give, and to share. At my job, I can now too give, love, have patience, give guidance, and leadership. I help clients that have developmental disabilities in which you, and daddy knew. I have learned so much from my clients that I work with everyday I learn something new about them or myself. I remember so many good things we shared, and the laughs we had, there were so many, and the stories you would tell me about when you, and daddy first met, and fell in love,. that was so special. I remember the times when you were at school, and you and the cooks would dress up for Halloween for the children, and it made their day. Mother, you was always doing for others, and was so giving of yourself. Mother you would always put smiles on peoples faces, and make them laugh at one of your cute jokes or stories, and there were times you would get so tickled also at yourself. Someday, soon I know I will be with you, and daddy, and all of the rest of our families, and friends. I knew it was time to let you, and daddy go, and it has been painful that I don't have you here in person to talk to, but I talk to you in my thoughts everyday. I am so glad that you, and daddy are together again, and daddy missed you so very much you were, and are daddy's love of his life. This is not goodbye or was it when you passed away you are gone in this life form but not in spirit, and soul. You, and daddy is among the wonders of this beautiful life with God Forever, and Ever, and I too, and Kenneth will join you there in the richest place you can ever find in this universe which is "God's Home." I miss your touch, mother . Love, Laraine
