“ I had the deepest pleasure of caring for Ms. Luella as her hospice nurse. I always knew I was in for a treat going to see her. Along with things she enjoyed was talking. It's hard not to fall in love with another "grandma" and that's how she made me feel. We don't just care for patients... they care for us too. It's a different kind of bond. My heart is heavy since our last conversation was about my upcoming birthday and my scheduled visit was on Halloween. I bought her favorite candy for her. Ms. Luella you will be deeply missed. Love you lady bug. Amanda Sue.

“ Aunt Lou, you have always been an original, opening your home and life to countless people and always making each one always feel like we all belonged and were so welcomed. You taught us all that one of your hugs could get us through everything from the mundane to the unimaginable. Your zeal for living was unparalleled and you taught us to make every moment count. I know heaven is a better place with you there but what I wouldn't give for one more of your hugs and to hear you tell me "I love you darlin' " just once more. But I will have to wait until we can be together again for that. I love you forever Aunt Lou.
