“ Sheila always had a huge smile for everyone. I worked with her at TCC and remember when her mother and her husband passed. At both visitations, she hugged me so hard I thought my back would break. I also remember once when she was told to write me up for attendance. I got WI d of it so just before shift I asked to speak with her. We went out front to smoke and I said, " you know Sheila, today I was thinking about work and well.....I counselled with myself and I'm gonna do better". She looked at me so odd and said, "damn you Cyndi. What am I supposed to tell Lt. Stanley.....that you counselled your damn self". We laughed and she never did write me up.
I thought an awful lot of her and enjoyed travelling to Fulton to watch her son play football in college. Good times that will be missed. RIP my friend.
